

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A status information sharing system for sharing status information of users who handle a plurality of user terminal devices is provided, wherein the status
5 information sharing system generates accurate latest status information, for example, a work status, a presence status and a schedule based on a status of a user or a schedule in schedule information of the user and provides the other users of the generated latest 10 status information.